A HISTORIC VENUE

Welcome to Mustard Seed Gardens – a historic farmstead turned venue in the heart of Indiana.

Mustard Seed Gardens is a unique setting, with roots dating back to the 1800s. Originally, President Andrew Jackson deeded the property to George Metsker, in exchange for his military service during the War of 1812. For decades, the property served as a farmstead & home to the Metsker family.

Now an established venue, Mustard Seed Gardens has hosted over 500 weddings. Our mission is simple: create a one-of-a-kind backdrop, bring people together, celebrate love and have the best time doing it.
