

The background of the image shows a wedding reception inside a white tent. The tent's structure is visible with white fabric draped over it. In the background, there are two large floral centerpieces made of white and green flowers. The foreground is a close-up of a dining table set for a wedding. The table is covered with a white tablecloth and features several place settings. Each setting includes a white plate, a silver fork and spoon, and a white card. The table is elegantly decorated with tall, slender glass candle holders containing lit candles, and smaller, ornate brass candle holders. Centerpieces consist of white roses in brass vases, interspersed with small, lit candles in glass holders. The overall atmosphere is warm and romantic, with soft lighting from the candles and the tent's interior.
