Westclox Building

HISTORY OF THE

APPROX. 1942

Charles Stahlberg and others from Waterbury, Connecticut, formed the "United Clock Company" on December 5, 1885, in Peru, IL. In 1887, the company reorganized under the new name Western Clock Company and in 1888 F. W. Matthiessen reorganized it as the Western Clock Manufacturing Company

The Peru, IL property remained in business until March 31, 1980 when the factory closed its doors for the final time.

On December 31, 2011, a fire was started in the old factory. It took 6 days to control. The center section of the building was destroyed, but the north and south parts were saved. The property was purchased by brothers, Tim and Mike Turczyn and Cody Grandadam on June 24, 2014. It has since been renovated into a multi-purpose space including a distillery, brewery, brick oven pizzeria, wedding venue, an art and enrichment center and more than a dozen other small businesses.
