Hello Record Box Loft.

A historic riverfront wedding venue in Battle Creek.

Our original hardwood floors, exposed brick and open floorpan flooded with natural light gives our space an urban, industrial vibe that's perfect for your party of up to 250 guests.

After a complete restoration of this historic building, built in 1902, we rebranded as Record Box Loft to pay homage to its roots. Once known as the Record Printing and Box Company, cereal boxes were printed here for many years in the cereal capital of the world.

This restoration brought back the vibrant and raw materials of the early 1900's now combined with modern, industrial, and rustic vibes for your stunning event.

The combination of these elements form an absolutely gorgeous ambiance that needs very little decor. However, hosts can take this flexibility to create and customize some of the most beautiful weddings and events.

“The Record Box Loft exceeded our expectations. The venue was beautiful and everything I imagined for our wedding day. The venue team was so flexible in everything during the planning and on the day-of the wedding.”

— Heidi, As reviewed on The Knot.
